DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1-6 objected to because of the following informalities: Claims 1 and 6 contain unnecessary language which tends to obscure the limitations. E.g. "namely", "it being possible for", "can be", "can at least be". This language should be removed if unnecessary or otherwise amended to read in a definite recitation form (is, does).

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 3, 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Alden (2003/0038928).

Alden discloses an image projector comprising:

An LCD (35) for providing images which are projected upon a surface (50) by optical means (44, 45);

LCD logic and Drivers (31) act as a scaler for providing the image data to be projected;

Sensor means detect unwanted movement of the device in all directions and submit movement information to a CPU which computes offset information and sends signals to digital image conditioning means (173) and/or mechanical compensation means. [0041] The image on the LCD is then pixel compensated for the movement.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Alden (2003/0038928).

Alden gives examples of the sensors used. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art that analog or digital means may be provided for detecting movement and performing compensation because both methods are known to be capable of performing similar functions.

Allowable Subject Matter.

6. Claims 4-5 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
